

It's Not Too Late!

You can still file taxes to get the Child Tax Credit!

What is the Expanded Child Tax Credit?

To help people get through the COVID-19 pandemic, the American Rescue Plan massively expanded the Child Tax Credit. Most families will get $3,000 to $3,600 per child, even if the families have little or no income.

- In 2021, families can get:
 - $3,600 ($300 a month) per child for children ages 0 to 5.
 - $3,000 ($250 a month) per child for children ages 6 to 17.
- IRS should start paying these benefits monthly in July 2021. Most families will get $250 to $300 a month per child from July through December 2021. Families will get the remaining $1,500 to 1,800 per child when they file their 2021 taxes in Spring 2022.
- The Child Tax Credit will not affect your Medicaid, SNAP/Food Stamps, TANF Cash Assistance, SSI or other public benefits.

Is My Child Eligible?

- To be eligible:
 - Children must have a Social Security Number.
 - Children must live with you for at least half of the year.
 - Children must be under age 18 as of December 31, 2021.
- Children are eligible if they are your children, adopted children, stepchildren, half-siblings, foster children, grandchildren, nieces or nephews, or certain other relatives.
- The adult filer must have a Social Security Number or an Individual Taxpayer Identification Number.
- You do not need to have any earnings to get this credit, though it phases out for families with higher income. Families will qualify for a full credit if their income is below: single filer ($75,000), head of household ($112,000) or married filing jointly ($150,000).

How Do I Get It?

- File taxes! You can still file even if you missed the May 17th deadline!
